Menstrual cycle can be intimidating. More so for differently able girls, specially to those with visual impairment. Nawal's art reflects Foundation's help to blind and visually impaired girls.

The art revolves around the menstrual cycle, blindness, challenges thereof and helping hands.

White patches on the eye at the center of the art denotes blindness. Streaks, drops and splashes of red colour represent unmanaged pool of menstrual blood. Whilst dark colours signify difficulties; yellow, orange, and white colors display positivity - help and support of the Foundation.

Empowerment:

Three levels of computer training offered to students in Beldangi camp. 120 Students from within the camp and surrounding village of Damak Municipality are taking the course. CTEVT recognized certificates will be awarded after completing six months course. They will be able to enter into job market that demands computer skills.

This training center was made possible by generous funding from a group of youths living in the US. The contribution from Lochan Khatiwada, Bhuwan Acharya, Chandra Upreti, Mon Poudel and Carrick Pharmacy helped in renovating an old classroom to turn it into a full scale computer training facility.

No empowerment program in Ethiopia for 2022 due to internal conflict. In past years micro-finance grant was allocated to women victims of sexual violence in Ambo region of Ethiopia.

Poverty and Education in Nepal

According to 2019 data, 17.4 percent of Nepali population are poor and multidimensional poverty index is 0.074. Across various indicators the highest number of people are deprived of housing materials, clean cooking fuel, years of schooling, assets and nutrition.

This suggests that poverty is connected to number of years students remain in school. Punya Foundation awarded the scholarship funds to those students who are most vulnerable to drop out of school and face multidimensional poverty on housing, food and clothes in remote Dhading and Sindhupalchok district. With supplies essential to attend school and fees paid with scholarship fund, these students will continue to remain in school until they graduate out of the school.

Going by the data published by National Statistics Bureau, literacy rate in Sindhupalchok is just 53.60 with female literacy standing at 51.88 and male at 67.97 (source- Statistical Yearbook 2021). It is very encouraging that 62% of our scholarship recipients are girls.

Similarly in Dhading, literacy rate is 59.8, with female literacy rate of mere 55.7 compared to male literacy standing at 71.08. This data provides the basis for Punya Foundation to prioritize on awarding scholarships to girl children in the district. Girls are more vulnerable to drop out of school and be household worker or agricultural helper or even have greater risk of being trafficked for sex trade. Much greater is this risk for orphan children who lost both their parents.

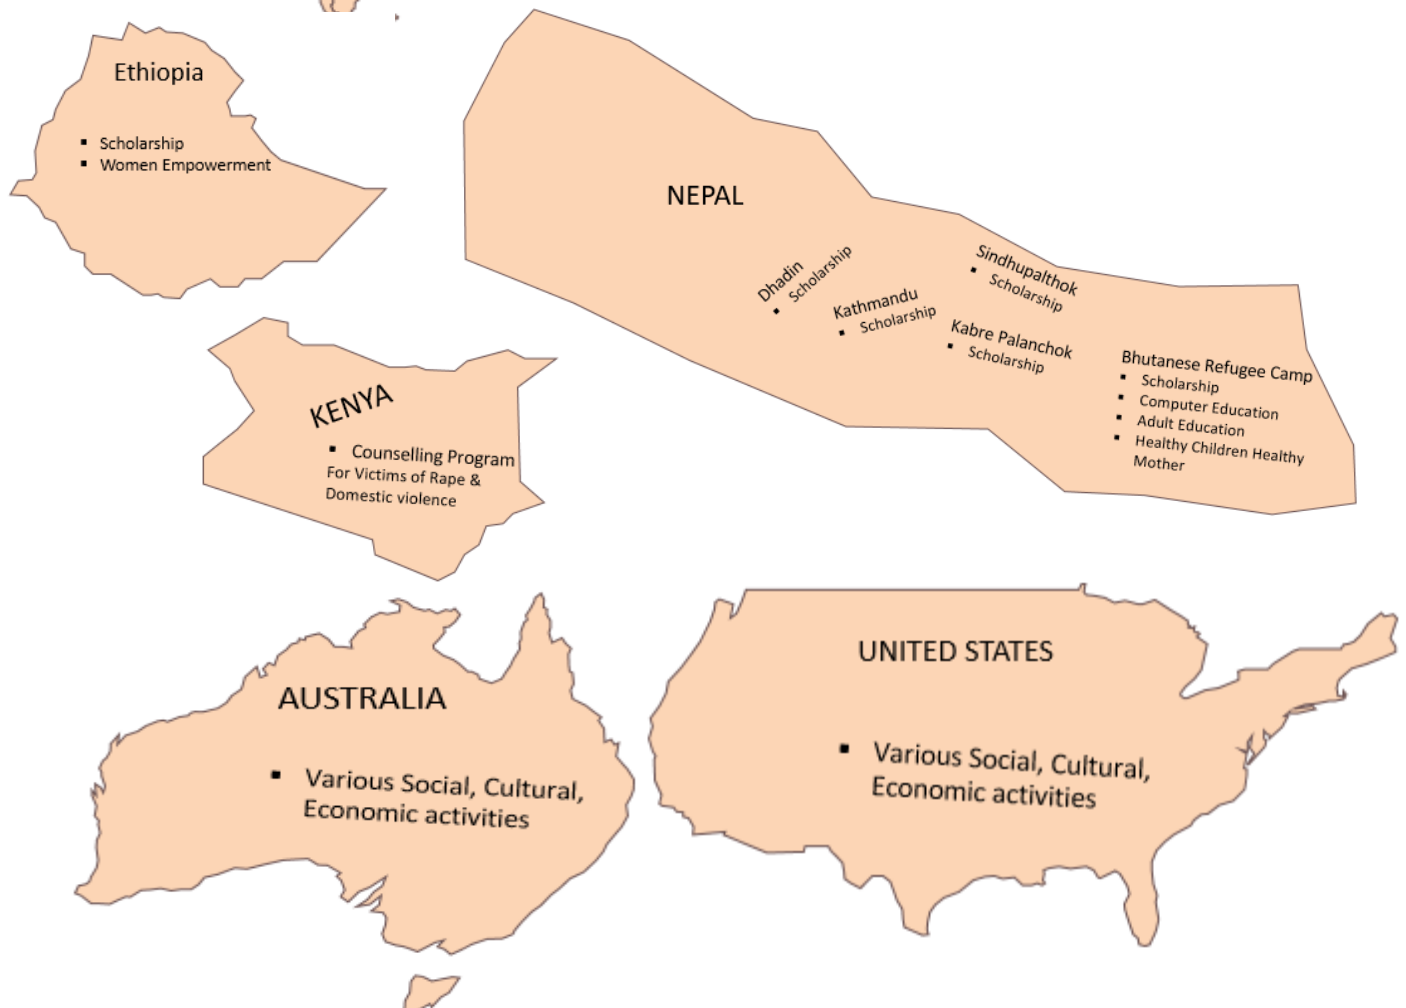

Poverty and education in Ethiopia

Total of 9 students awarded scholarship, five new in 2022. These children belong to poor families living in remote parts of Ambo town, whose source of income is subsistence farming and cattle rearing. Often these are large families who cannot afford to send children to school because of food and income poverty.
